

I am writing, as a journalism professor, to ask for clarification as to why the FCC is not intervening to stop Sinclair Communications from attempting to influence the outcome of the US presidential election by using the public airwaves to air a one sided misinformation-filled campaign as entitled Stolen Honor.

Also, please explain to me what enforcement action the FCC plans to take against Sinclair in the event this free campaign ad is aired.

And what provision will the FCC force upon Sinclair for equal time for slandered parties to respond on Sinclair's airwaves"

Also, Since the FCC knows in advance that Sinclair plans to air misinformation about a US election masquerading as "news," can the FCC use prior restraint to stop them from abusing the public airwaves in such a manner by requiring them to commit to equal time and factual corrections?
